BRONX, NY (APRIL 1, 2017)—WALLWORKS NEW YORK is pleased to present The Art of Spray Paint, a group exhibition curated by Lori Zimmer. Zimmer's recent book of the same name was released in January of this year with Rockport Publishers, and delves into the history and diversity of artists working with spray paint.

From the first conceptual experimenters in the 1960s to the graffiti movement and into modernity, the book follows the adoption and adaptation of spray paint by artists working across various genres in the fine art realm.

The exhibition features originals from selected artists from the book that utilize spray paint in unique ways in their work, including stenciling, freehand spraying, mixed media and paper cut, abstraction, and even manipulation of spray paint with brushed and other tools.

The Art of Spray Paint exhibition will feature original works by Logan Hicks, Joe Iurato, Hueman, Matt Eaton, Remi Rough, Ian Kualii, Nick Walker, Zac Braun, PichiAvo, Crash and Br163. Limited copies of the book will also be available at the gallery.
